Address of the Southern Whigs.

The Republic of this morning publishes the address of a portion of the Southern Whigs to their constituents and the country, occupying three and a half columns. The editors say:

"From all comment on the course of the mi nority or the majority in the recent Congressional caucus we have intentionally abstained. We know that both were actuated only by the most elevated sentiments of public duty and patriotic attachment. We believe that both will at some time be enabled so far to harmonize conflicting opinions as to act together in a common cause. Our own position in regard to the measures of adjustment was taken too carly, and has been too distinctly and consistently maintained—through times of greater doubt and darkness than the present—to permit us to waver or hesitate a moment as to the propriety and necessity of insisting upon the recognition of the policy of the Compromise. This was the ground taken by President Fillmore in both of his messages—affirmed by the Whig Congressional caucus at the commencement of the present session-and it is claimed to be the ground of every Whig candidate for the Presidency who is at all prominent before the pub-

It then appears that the ground taken by every "Whig candidate for the Presidency, who is at all prominent before the public," assumes "the propriety and necessity of insisting upon the recognition of the policy of the Compromise." I is not sufficient that a candidate is in favor of those measures-that, in the times of "doubt and darkness" experienced by other candidates and their friends, he was zealously and ably advocating them: he must now insist upon the recognition of the policy of these measures by every Whig Congressional caucus and convention. That is it: is it? A compromise, submitted to in the spirit of compromise by many who did not wholly approve of it, must be perpetually reaffirmed for the purpose of proscribing and oppressing those who alone sacrificed anything by its consummation. The principles and measures it embraces are now laws of the land, and they cannot be shaken. The minority who opposed them submit to their enforcement. Being a minority, they of course cannot repeal them. As a minority, they were unpopular because they were influenced by sectional feelings in opposition to the welfare of the Union. The desire of many of them now is to act with the great national parties of the country; but, lest they should do this, the particular measures of the Compromise must in each caucus or convention be reaffirmed, and they who will not stultify themselves in terms are to be driven from among the friends of the Union.

Is this the way to preserve the union of these States? Is this the spirit of compromise? . Is this proper action for a Union party? Can there be no party affinities except where there is perfect agreement on all these questions?

Will the Democratic party act in like manner Let us for a moment suppose they will. What is to be the result? We shall have a Whig Compromise party and a Democratic Compromise party. And what else? If these two parties must be formed, there must be something else, or the folly of forming them would make them very rediculous. But of what shall the third party consist? If it have an existence, it must arise from the necessity created by a new and unnecessary test. A party opposed to the Union will be wantonly created for that extreme position by the coercive measures of two parties professing extreme love for the Union!

If the supporters of the Compromise are all in favor of each measure of it, then is it no compromise at all, and it is absurd to call it so. If they are not in favor of each measure, but, objecting to particular parts, still acquiesce in the whole for the sake of union and amity, then is it indeed a compromise; and they who have waived their objections from such a motive are worthy all honor. Is it to them that the finger of scorn should be pointed? Must they be told that the tenure of their association with the parties with Let the Constitutional Union party be firm, as whom they would act, for the welfare of the counthe South will be safe. Avoid both the Whig try, must depend upon their daily or stated solemn declarations that what they regarded as partially evil is all good and perfect? Or must they even renounce forever all legislation upon the points involved? This, in view of the past history of the United States, would be as absurd as any other part of this solemn farce. The sentiments of the people of the United States will ever change with their varying circumstances,

We have not the spirit of prophecy, it may be; yet we think we can see far enough into the future to know that the Whig party cannot fail following, which we prefer to quote without comin the approaching contest, and that a Whig- ment: Union or Whig-Compromise party cannot succeed.

But our brethren of the Republic, who are much wiser than we, can see nothing but "the propriety and necessity of insisting upon the RE-COGNITION of the policy of the Compromise."

North Carolina.

The Whig convention of this State adjourned eine die yesterday. John Kerr, of Caswell county. was nominated for governor. The following resolutions were adopted :

1st. Declares strongly in favor of Fillmore for President.

2d. Declares for Graham for Vice President. 3d. Pledges their support to the nominee of the Whig National Convention, if unequivocally in favor of the Compromise.

4th. Opposes the doctrine of intervention. 5th. Disapproves of the public lands being given for the benefit of the new States.

6th. Declares their attachment to the constitution and the Union, and that they will resist all Disorganizes the whole system-it weakens the nerves; efforts to enfeeble them.

Wisdom!

The Southside Democrat says that if General Scott holds his tongue till November next he will be a wiser man than it takes him for. What fools it must therefore think the Whigs who wish the General to get up some newly-vamped declarations for them. The Democrat was no doubt well pleased with the noise and confusion that prevented the veteran Cass from speaking once Incendiary. An attempt was last night made to fire the lumber-yard of Mr. Wm. Bird, 6th street on the away every diseased deposite seated in the solids and fluids; canal. Mr. F. Purcell and two or three members of the Auxiliary Guard fortunately succeeded in extinguishing the flames. About $80 worth of shingles only were lost.

Congress To-day.

SENATE. - Mr. Cooper presented the memorial of certain persons holding claims against Mexico, asking payment of the same. Mr. BRADBURY introduced a bill providing for olding the U. S. district court in the District of Columbia, in case of the sickness or other disability of the judge. Mr. Gwin moved to take up the bill to create board of commissioners for the examination and payment of claims against the United States growing out of the conquest of California; and he motion was agreed to. After some debate, the bill was recommitted to the Committee on Wilitary Affairs.

The subject of non-intervention was then taken up, and Mr. Cooper addressed the Senate thereon.

House of Representatives .- Mr. Olds asked eave to introduce a resolution calling upon the President of the United States for information relative to the Gardiner, Mears, Hargous, and other claims against the Mexican government; but objection was made.

After further proceedings, the House resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and resumed the consideration of he homestead bill.

Sir John Franklin.

In our telegrams of yesterday was a statement to the effect that the captain of a Quebec vessel, in the spring of 1851, saw two vessels imbedded in the ice, drifting towards Davis's Straits, which vessels were believed to be the ships of Sir John Franklin. This news, we are further informed, received great attention at the Admiralty. The London Times of the 14th contained three columns of documents on the subject; but that paper of the 15th put a damper on the story by showing its impossibility, and the probability that what the captain saw was only a reflection of his own vessel from two different surfaces of an iceberg. Perhaps so.

Burglary.

This business is prospering very well in Washington at present. It appears to be sometimes profitable, and always safe.

On Friday evening last the dwellings of Messrs. . Wilson, Riley, and Cooper, on 17th street, in the First Ward, were entered, and some things of little value taken. Attempts were made to force the shutters of the dwellings of Messrs Potts and Moore, in the same neighborhood. They succeeded in invading the pantry of Mr. W. T. Dove.

A correspondent, in communicating the above facts, very reasonably, as we think, exclaims: Give us either an efficient police or none.' There are hardly enough for so large a village as Sargent's Standard Speaker.

We heard an intelligent gentleman the other day denounce this splendid new work because it did not do full justice to Southern orators. The National Era to-day alludes to a quotation from the speech of Mr. Smith, of Alabama, on the Kossuth resolution, and says it is enough to condemn the whole book. It is well none of us are obliged to think with such critics.

Fire at the Arsenal.

A fire occurred yesterday afternoon at the Arsenal, near this city, by which a boat-shed, a couple of boats, some sails, &c., were consumed. The workmen were promptly on the spot with the fire apparatus belonging to the post, and prevented the flames from extending. We understand the fire originated by a spark from a steamboat while passing the wharf.

Senator Dawson, of Georgia.

The following letter from this gentleman was read at the recent Union convention :

WASHINGTON, At

FOR JAMES E. NISBET: The Whig caucus has sustained Mangum's decision, and the Southern Whigs generally withdrew from the caucus. The convention will be held on the 16th of June, in Baltimore. The breach is both wide and deep. and Democratic Conventions, and the conservatives of all parties will rally with the Union party and call a convention to be held at Washington (Signed)

A Reason.

We are firmly of opinion that Gen. Cass could ot be elected, if nominated, and that Mr. Buchanan can. This is why we ask for the nomination of the latter gentleman .- N. Y. Star.

This looks to us like a valid reason for preand no legislation can or should fetter their dic- ferring one Democrat to another, however it may be among Whigs.

The Pennsylvanian of yesterday contains the (IMPORTANT MOVEMENT .- We have it from high authority that the Southern Whigs who seceded from the Congressional caucus on the ground that the friends of Scott intended to play fast and loose on the slavery question, are now engaged in preparing a manifesto to the people of Information has reached us that the friends of Scott are waiting for an occasion to check-mate them; and if the Southern Whigs are not exceedingly careful they will be caught by the wily leaders of abolition Whiggery—Seward and Company. It is stated that the Southern Whigs will recommend Fillmore for President, and make him the Southern Whig Union candidate. In this event it is alleged that some startling developments will be made show-ing that Fillmore is really the most exceptionable candidate that could be presented to the Southern people, of any party. The Southern Whigs would do well, therefore, to make no hasty committals in reference to individuals, but stand prepared to rally upon the platform of the National Democracy."

Thèse splendid musicians gave their first concert last evening at Carusi's Saloon. The hall was filled to overflowing by a highly-delighted and fashionable audience. The Germanians played superbly; several of their pieces were encored. Mr. Schultze played David's glorious variations, for the violin, on a Russian air; and we must confess that his performance on that difficult instrument pleased us more than any other we have had the pleasure of listening to for a long while. He was most rapturously encored, and gave us the ever fresh "sounds from home." Mr. Alfred Jaell, the celebrated pianist, made his first appearance in this city, and performed several fantasias on the piano forte. He is decidedly the best performer on that grand instrument we have ever heard: we even think bim superior to the far-famed Leopold de Meyer. Everybody should go and hear him. His Carnival of Venice was a most marvellous performance, which, of course, was encored, and in response he gave his own Bohemian Polka in a most spirited manner. The Germanians give their second and last con-

National Theatre.

The opera has done an excellent business since the weather has been good. Mrs. Seguin is almost as successful as she was years ago: her voice astonishes by its depth, its melody, and its tone: and her execution of difficult music is as perfect as ever. Of Mr. Seguin it is unneccesary to say a word in praise : as a singer and an actor he has few living equals in opera. Mr. Bishop, though by no means eminent as a tenor, has a sweet and pleasing voice, but his falsetto is awful. It is due to the management of the National to say, that the pieces are all beautifully producedthe appointments, dancing, music, dresses, &c., being unexceptionable. To-night we are to have an opera new to many of our citizens—the opera

Miss Eliza Logan's engagement will begin on Monday evening next, the 3d of May. It was postponed to allow our citizens an opportunity, during good weather, to enjoy the music. She will be assisted by her beautiful sister, Celia, and by her father, always a favorite. Miss Logan is probably the most promising actress in this country. She has great advantages. Her ambition to excel in her profession has made her a close student; and the fervor of her style, added to her powerful voice, her distinct enunciation, and her expressive countenance, give her the advance of most of her competitors. The versatility of this young lady's acting is wonderful.

After Miss Logan, Mr. Forrest will open at the National. He will be assisted by Madame Conisi, and also the best talent in Mr. Marshall's numerous corps. He finishes his monster engl gagement at the Broadway after playing to ful houses for more than seventy nights.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

McDonough's Patent Universal Refrigerator.—I would respectfully call the attention of housekeepers, hotel proprietors, and others, to the Universal Refrigerator, lately invented by A. McDonough, specimens of which can now be seen at my establishment. This Refrigerator is altogether different from all others before the public, in its combinations, apartments, vessels, and the philosophical principles of its construction. The case is made of wood, which is free from smell, and lined with a metallic surface, and its interior is of stone-ware. It is so arranged that essel article of food or provision is kept entirely separate, and removed with facility. By the plan of its construction a current of cold air is in constant circulation around each vessel and within each apartment, while by a simple ventilating contrivance the complete purity of the whole apparatus is insured, thereby obviating all the old objections that have been made in every other invention for the same purpose, viz: by avoiding that liability to engender local or relative odors from the viands, meat, fish, vegetables, pastry, or fruit, which may be contained therein. The convenience which it affords for retaining the purity and sweetness of good butter, particularly, cannot be surpassed, and the small quantity of fee that is required to keep everything cold, is a most economical desideratum.

The proprietor challenges the country to produce anything that will compare with it; and he guaranties to keep rovisions colder and sweeter with half a peck of ice in twenty-four hours than any other Refrigerator can with a peck. The cost of the Universal Refrigerator is as low as that of the ordinary kind, and will hold more provisions. Sizes for families, boarding-houses, and hotels.

A BUSINESS STAND IN WASHINGTON CITY FOR RENT.

THE long-established Grocery Stand, on Garrison street, near the Navy-yard, at present occupied by Mr. Wm. J. Geffers, is for rent. The buildings are of brick, and comprise the Dwelling, Store-room, with fixtures complete, detached Warehouse, with cellars under both buildings; an extra lot fronting on the street, &c., &c. The rent being low, a person of enterprise and capital, by selling at eity prices, could make money. It has been for many years, and is at present, the terminus of the omnibus route between the Navy Yard and Capitol, Centre Market and Georgetown. Cosches arrive and depart every five minutes. In addition to the Grocery, a Livery and Sale Stable has been conducted on the premises, and could be profitably continued.
